We Need Interested Logistics Companies Like You!

US Department of Labor data shows increasing gaps in skilled labor to fill positions in the logistics career field. We are aware of the value that trained and dedicated military veterans bring to an organization. If you have open positions, why not consider hiring a highly qualified veteran who is seeking a career in international trade?

Join us to help ease the transition to civilian life for our military servicemen and women a little easier. No hiring commitments required, just agree to view our candidate database when you have open positions and interview those whom you believe would be a good fit.

If it doesn’t work out, we just ask that you provide feedback to help them on their search for a new career!

Veterans to Trade

We Need YOUR help!
Veterans to Trade (V2T) is a National Customs Brokers and Forwarders Association of America Educational Institute (NEI) project.

The project is a pathway for service members who hold job specialties in traffic management to customs and export specialties. The goal is to allow troops to achieve credentialing and certification professional certification while on or following active duty transitioning into civilian industry.

The NEI is seeking interested military personnel who are looking for a meaningful career once they transition to civilian life. Through participation in, and completion of our programs, we can offer qualified veterans the chance to be matched with companies who are looking for their skills and experience.

Provide world class training in customs and export policies and procedures in over 100 subject areas.

Conduct learning assessments through a comprehensive examination on the subject matter.

Assure potential employers that a Certified Customs Specialist (CCS) or Certified Export Specialist (CES) has been thoroughly trained and has demonstrated his/her competence by satisfactorily completing a rigorous comprehensive exam.

Understand that these young men and women have served in the military in the capacity of traffic management specialists and bring a sense of commitment, strong values, and excellent work ethic to the work force.

Sign up and agree to view the candidate database and to interview candidates from this program.

If not selected for hiring, provide feedback to the candidates on how they may improve their chances of being hired.
